INTRODUCTION

This report is designed to give you new insights into your character and personality from a perspective considerably different from that which most people use. The descriptions in this report are based on the ancient science of numerology.

The report discusses:

The lessons you are learning in this life, your deep inner desires and how to fulfill them, your talents and personality traits and how to make the best use of them, the environment in which you work best, your attitude toward work, and your ways of relating to other people.

The report can also guide you in identifying existing opportunities and opening the way to new and even more favorable possibilities. It's up to you, though, to use the information here, along with your free will, to determine the road on which you want to journey and the distance you wish to travel. No matter your age, the roads are open when you are ready to explore.

The numerology chart from which this report is derived is based on your birth date, birth name and current name. The birth date and birth name describe the characteristics and abilities with which you were born. The current name describes the changes in those characteristics and abilities which occurred after you started to use your new name. If you've used your current name for less than five years, the changes it describes may still be in the process of unfolding.

Some talents and characteristics surface at different times in your life. Occasionally, a characteristic described in this report has been present in an earlier part of your life and is not of current importance. Sometimes, a talent mentioned here is present although you may not be fully aware of it. If this is the case, check with a friend who knows you well and you may be pleasantly surprised. A few characteristics may not have appeared in your life as yet although they're described in this report. The description of these undeveloped potentials may serve to open your consciousness to new and exciting possibilities.

For many people, some of their strong potentials are not developed because of obstacles which have not been overcome. A part of this report may describe you as you would like to be rather than as you feel you are. When this is the case, the sections of the report describing the obstacles holding back that particular potential are especially important for you to understand.

Quite often the report describes several different and diverse sides of yourself. You may try to suppress or even ignore parts of who you are that don't come easily to you and emphasize other, more comfortable sides of yourself. You'll find, though, that when you can learn to integrate and equally express all the different sides of who you are, you will make the most progress in your life.

OVERVIEW

The several different sides of your character are pointed in diverse directions. A part of you is probably devoted to people—loving, giving and responsible. Another side of you is strong and practical, probably interested in the business world or similar material activities. Still another part of your personality is free-spirited and adventurous—at least in spirit but often in fact—and prefers not to be restrained by personal or business concerns. During your youth and young adulthood, you'll struggle to balance your various interests and desires. You'll sometimes take care of one, sometimes another, but rarely to your complete satisfaction. For occasional periods of time, you probably don't use one or another of your abilities at all in order to make better use of the others. As you get older, you'll probably learn to harmonize your concern for others, your material interests and your need for variety and excitement so that you're using all of the aspects of your personality constructively.

YOUR ORDERLY, HARDWORKING NATURE— AND YOUR OCCASIONALLY RIGID APPROACH

Your 4 Life Path

You were born with the potential to work long, hard and patiently. If there's a job requiring a good deal of time, much difficult work and careful attention to detail, you can probably do it well. One of your major lessons in life is to learn the advantage of using system and order. You may choose a line of work in which your systematic approach can be developed. You're likely to be good at establishing new routines and maintaining existing ones.

Others often appreciate your special ability to produce order where little or none has existed. You usually are good at organizing and managing ventures of any size. Your patient and persevering manner add to your managerial ability. You're probably dependable, conscientious and self-disciplined much of the time. You have the special ability to convert an abstract idea into a practical, down-to-earth working format. Although you can handle abstractions, you often prefer to work with material matters. Your honesty and sincerity probably make it easy for people to place their trust in you. One of your lessons is to learn the rewards of giving service to others. As you reach your thirties, you may find that you produce your work with that end in mind.

You can be systematic and orderly, but you may have to learn to use this important characteristic in a balanced way. You probably have to be careful not to lose sight of the bigger picture because of your desire to keep things organized or because of your excessive concern with details. There may be times when you feel like you're in a rut, giving considerable effort without a sense of accomplishment. When this happens, see if you are causing the limitations that you experience rather than assuming that the limitations are caused by someone or something else. The strong likes and dislikes you express from time to time may occasionally produce the very restrictions which upset you.

Some people with this kind of energy are often considerably disorganized instead of being systematic and orderly. If you find yourself having difficulties with organizational matters, you have some work to do to begin making use of this fine potential.

Much of the time, you probably prefer a stable, well-regulated life. You sometimes present a somewhat fixed approach and, at times, can limit yourself or cause yourself problems by being dogmatic or narrow-minded. There are also likely to be difficulties when you show your rigid or stubborn streak. You're likely to restrict your forward progress some of the time because of your fear of taking chances.

Your 13/4 Karmic Debt

There are times when you may feel boxed in and unable to adjust your course to a more productive direction. If you rationalize your uncomfortable position—and you're likely to be skilled at fooling yourself in this way—your predicament isn't likely to change. Instead of accepting much needed help, you're apt to feel that friends who offer constructive comments don't understand the situation. The solution to your feeling of limitation often involves revising your viewpoint and adopting a lighter, more flexible approach. It will probably take a lot of effort to change your way of seeing things, but that is likely to be the best—possibly the only—way to ease your difficulties. If you choose not to change, or if you are lazy and indifferent, the pressures may intensify.

Although there are usually opportunities available to relieve the pressure, these opportunities can only be seen and used when you begin to relinquish your fixed ways. The opportunities for change may be present for a long time before you're able to recognize and take advantage of them.

Your 1 Challenge

During your early years, you're probably in a family in which you're dominated and kept dependent. Despite your need to assert your independence and express yourself in your own way, the environment in your childhood and adolescence makes this difficult. As you grow older, you'll learn how to take stock of a situation—including others' needs as well as your own—so that you can move forward with the courage of your convictions in the direction of your choice. It may take considerable time and work to break free to independence.

Your 8 Karmic Lesson

Despite your good business potential, you probably have to learn how to deal with money comfortably in your personal life. You may worry that you never have enough money, or you may have an unrealistic view of how far your earnings will go. You may buy things you really can't afford, or you may be afraid to buy things although the cost is well within your income. Until you can deal with your personal finances with ease, you may be subject to uncomfortable pressures related to financial dependence or excessive striving for attainment.

YOUR FREE-WHEELING CREATIVITY— HOW IT WORKS FOR AND AGAINST YOU

Your 5 Expression

Your practical ability probably plays a considerable part in your life. There's another aspect of your character, though, which appears to have just as much effect on your personality makeup.

You probably know that you can do almost anything you attempt with superior skill. As you can imagine, this innate ability allows you a boundless freedom most people can only dream about. Others will recognize your innate versatility and turn to you to use your varied talents in many different ventures. You probably prefer a line of work with little routine and constant change. Because it so often feels as if the whole world can be yours for the asking, you probably have to learn to pick and choose among your opportunities so that you focus your energies rather than scatter your talents.

You probably use your fine creative imagination in many of your pursuits. You're attracted by variety, unusual people, unusual interests, travel and adventure. You're often drawn to new and progressive activities and, in using your talents, you're particularly interested in the latest developments and the more original approaches. Sometimes, you bring a special excitement to your activities that may get others interested in your work. When you combine your enthusiasm with your imagination and resourcefulness, you have an unbeatable combination.

Since you instinctively know good ways to present material and information much of the time, you could be a natural in teaching or selling. You may also have talents you could turn to good use in entertaining others. You enjoy a good time and, with your quality of eternal youth, you're likely to be instrumental in making those good times happen.

You're apt to feel bored and restless at times. Since the world is so exciting, you probably want to get involved with everything that comes your way. You sometimes dissipate your energies on many different ventures with little to show for your efforts. You often leave an experience before you've completed it out of an urge to try something new. You probably have to learn to limit the number of your activities so that at least some of the projects you start will be completed. You're probably aware of the conflict between this restless side of your nature and the other aspects of your personality. Although you usually try to balance your desire for freedom with your other needs, you sometimes don't want to be bothered with any common or routine affairs at all. People who know you well may be surprised at the impatience, irresponsibility or overindulgence you display from time to time.

Some people with your kind of versatility don't make the most of it because they're afraid to take risks. If you often find yourself shying away from opportunities, you're probably holding yourself back. You may have to do some work to become comfortable with both your potential for freedom and the contrasting energies in your life.

Your 14/5 Karmic Debt

You're probably going to have to expend considerable effort to appreciably reduce the level of change and variety in your life. Until you learn to slow the pace at which you often live, you're likely to feel little sense of accomplishment—and a heightened level of frustration.

You may also be experiencing difficulties because of the way in which you try to use your talents. You may have an unrealistic view of the limitations of a situation and not be fully aware of how those limitations are likely to affect your abilities. Until your view is clarified, you're likely to meet a good deal of disappointment in your work. You may have to constantly regroup your forces in order to attempt to move ahead. Your vague or impractical vocational commitments are likely to add to the problem.

The 14/5 Karmic Debt Deleted In Your Current Name

With your current name, the pace of your life is likely to be reduced to a far more comfortable level. There's apt to be considerably less change and activity, although there's still likely to be a restless side to your personality. It's probably considerably easier to balance this restlessness with the other facets of your character. Since you're wasting much less of your productive energy in aimless pursuits, you're probably able to accomplish more of what you would like.

YOUR SENSITIVE, COOPERATIVE NATURE— AND YOUR DELICATE EGO

Your 2 Soul Urge And 2 Birthday

There's another side of your personality—along with the social and creative part—which is probably just as important in determining your general character.

You are a sensitive person with considerable awareness of your own and others' feelings. You are often touched by the subtleties of everyone's emotions and, at times, can understand a great deal from a word, a gesture or even an unspoken thought. With this sensitivity, you want the closeness of special friends in your life and probably prefer marriage or some other long term relationship to a single life.

You're often a considerate person, giving and receiving much in the way of friendship, affection and love. For the most part, you enjoy working with others and are often admired for the team spirit and cooperative attitude you bring to your activities. You display patience and adaptability a good deal of the time and often pay attention to even the smallest details. Your tactful manner and your innate desire for calmness help provide a balanced and harmonious environment.

Others are likely to see you as sympathetic, concerned and devoted and appreciate you for these qualities. More often than not, you use quiet persuasion rather than a forceful manner to produce the results you want. In many situations, your own needs are secondary and you often don't hesitate to deny yourself if others can benefit. You sometimes run the risk of being treated like a doormat.

You may feel subservient in your younger years and you may be in your twenties before you learn to recognize your own needs and express your individuality in order to avoid frustration and resentment. You may have to build up your self-confidence so that you can ask for what you want with comparative ease.

You're probably all too aware of your delicate ego. Particularly during your youth and adolescence, it may be more comfortable to stay in the background and express little of your emotions. During these younger years, people probably see you as shy and retiring and, no matter how old you are, you may prefer to retreat into this background position. Although you have always had deep feelings, you may still be learning to express those feelings clearly and directly. When you aren't sure of others' reactions, you may put your ideas forward in a tentative manner. You may sometimes fall into fits of worry and anxiety, too, and your critical manner at these times may upset those who only know your gentler side.

You have an artistic side, too, although you may not always choose to make use of it. With your sensitivity and innate desire for balance, you may express your artistic impulses in poetry or music. The other arts may also appeal to you. In these and other activities, you often don't receive the recognition you deserve. You may even find that your contribution is occasionally credited to someone else. You may need to be more assertive to get your deserved acknowledgement unless you're satisfied with less appreciation than others prefer.

Your 9 Maturity Number

Sometime in the middle of your life, most likely between the ages of thirty-five and fifty, you'll probably re-evaluate the satisfactions you've found in giving of yourself—your time, energy or material possessions—with little consideration of the return. You may want to examine whether it's been easy for you to give in a relatively selfless way on a consistent basis or whether it's only occasionally comfortable. If you've managed to be giving, you may want to question the pleasure—or lack of pleasure—which you found in the experience. Because of this mid-life appraisal, it wouldn't be surprising if you make some important alterations in your attitudes and actions in regard to giving in order to receive more of the kind of satisfactions you want.

YOUR SPIRITUAL AWARENESS

Your 11 Soul Urge

Although it appears to be a minor influence in your life, you have a potential for spiritual understanding not available to most. Many people with this potential aren't ever aware of it or, in many cases, become familiar with it only when they're in their thirties or older.

When you use your spiritual awareness, there's much you are likely to sense about the non-material world. You probably enjoy acting as a channel for these awarenesses—whether religious, psychic or metaphysical—and then sharing your special insights with others. You may want to devote yourself to a career in which these spiritual forces play a significant role, or you may choose to deal with the spiritual world only in your personal life.

You also have good intuition which you only use occasionally. It may have a more significant effect than you expect when you do choose to make use of it. At times when your intuition and your rational mind are at odds, you may find it worthwhile to trust and follow your intuitive sense. It can be extremely helpful in directing your various ventures into constructive channels.

At times, you can inspire others with the purity of your approach and the good example you're capable of setting. There's an intense enthusiasm which you display from time to time as well. You're likely to have problems, though, when you get lost in your dreams and have difficulty separating reality from fantasy. You don't do this too often, but it's likely to confuse you and distract your associates when it does happen. You sometimes project a nervous tension which may set you and others a little bit on edge. It may take some time and effort to learn to keep your tension level low, but it's likely to be time well spent.

The Increased 7, 11, 22 Energy In Your Current Name

With your current name, you're likely to be much more interested in spiritual matters and better attuned in that direction. More of your time may be devoted to spiritual activities, and there's likely to be a good deal of satisfaction derived from them. You are probably more comfortable with your intuition now and far more willing to trust your intuitive understandings. You may find it easier to act as a channel for spiritual awareness and you may also find that you can use your special perceptions better in the accomplishment of practical undertakings.

Although you may be aware of your considerable potential in spiritual matters, accomplishment in this special area is only possible when you are motivated primarily by idealistic ends. A strong leaning toward personal gain will probably make it difficult to reap appreciable benefit from your spiritual understandings. With your current name, the level of nervous tension is likely to be higher than you would like. Others may be more aware of your tension and it may occasionally interfere with your activities or accomplishments. It will probably be useful to spend the necessary time reducing the tension level to manageable proportions.

THE OPPORTUNITIES AND INFLUENCES THAT WILL AFFECT YOUR LIFE IN 2015

Your 2 Life Path Period And 6 Pinnacle

In addition to the many personality traits and characteristics just described, two long term cycles, the Life Path Period and the Pinnacle, set the background tone for a number of years of your life. They produce no abrupt or intense effect, but, rather, determine the general influences that you'll feel during the time they're active.

At this time in your life you're apt to have an interest in developing your personal relations. A good deal of your time may revolve around your home, family and close friends. In all likelihood, you're giving much to others in a responsible and caring way, but be careful not to repress your own needs in the process. Don't let others take advantage of you because of your giving nature. You're likely to express a good deal in the way of friendship, affection and love. Your sensitivity to other people is likely to be deepened and expanded at this time. If you can express your feelings well, you may derive considerable pleasure from romance or marriage. If your emotions are not clearly expressed, your life may be complicated by romance or the difficulties of working out the problems related to marriage.

Your 7 Personal Year

You may be occupied for several years with the general concerns described above. In addition to those interests, though, the Personal Year is a more specific influence that has a much stronger impact on your daily life. Though this influence is not directly related to your basic personality, it can show the time of greatest opportunity or when potential difficulties can arise. Having this information before hand can help you to get the most out of each year. Let's examine the specific areas of concern which are likely to attract your attention in 2015.

By and large, 2015 isn't a year for change and expansion. Rather, it's a time to take stock of yourself and your current place in life in preparation for more dramatic action in the next few years. In 2015, you would do well to spend a good deal of your time examining the past and present and planning for the future. Reflect, analyze, study and meditate. Try to find time to be alone—at least occasionally—or to engage in quiet activity. Get fully acquainted with yourself, your deep inner needs as well as your hidden powers. If there are responsibilities to handle, take care of them as quickly as possible so that you have as much time as possible for inner contemplation.

If you're so inclined, this could be a time for increased spiritual awareness—awareness which may prove particularly meaningful in the years ahead. Since you're likely to have a desire to search for wisdom and hidden truth, this may be a year when you can make considerable progress in your spiritual undertakings. You may also choose to concentrate on some technical or scientific subjects which appeal to you. You may want to do research, write or teach in 2015. With your fine analytical sense and your unique viewpoint, you may make good progress here, too, and be amply rewarded.

People may see you as more detached this year. You may find yourself holding back your feelings a good deal of the time or having some problems with communication. Don't force issues. If, on occasion, you feel limited or lacking direction, try to wait patiently until you see things more clearly. You may feel lonely at times, although you may also understand the need for time alone to better develop your inner resources. If you feel under stress this year because of a sense of restriction, that stress may cause health problems which require attention.

SUMMARY

Because of your diverse interests and abilities, you're likely to expend considerable time and effort learning how to consolidate the various aspects of your character in a comfortable and productive way. When you understand how to combine the beauty of your loving, giving, responsible side, the power of your dynamic, practical side, the delight of your enthusiastic, versatile side and the special sensitivity of your spiritual side, you are likely to find a great deal of satisfaction in your life. As you mature, you'll probably learn to give generously to other people while satisfying your spiritual and material needs as well as your desire for excitement and change.
